

MY APPLICATION

I wanted to come up with an idea that would help people, that would facilitate people's needs.

I noticed that if it weren't for train travel apps like "NS"(The Netherlands) or "Renfe"(Spain), people would have to go all the way to a train station to see or buy a train schedule so they know when and which trains leave, this leads to many problems, for example, it's possible that you lose your schedule and you have to go all the way back to the station again. In order to find a solution for this I inspired my idea with the applications I mentioned before.

The name of the application will be "ExpressEase". Functionally, the app will be divided in two sections, an administrator one and a user one, this I find important because the fact of having an admin updating the app once in a while makes it much more attractive for the user's eyes. To distinct both sections there will be a log in page.

The user will be able to search for tickets in a determined date and time, buy them from the website and furthermore, they will be able to acquire subscriptions like an annual ticket which they could use the whole year long, this will obviously have a specific price. Moving on to the administrator, the idea is having more than one so it is easier to manage everything, they will have the ability of editing routes since it's possible that there is an accident or that new routes have been made, they will be able to edit the subscriptions, and as well manage the users, maybe one person wants to cancel their order and so the admin must act. Apart from this they will also be able to act like a regular user and buy tickets, however for them since they are working for the application, they would get it for free.

This is a short description of the initial idea.

In order to make the idea clearer I will link the prototype of the app and finally, the sitemap, however I prefer presenting it so it's more understandable.
